Spring 2026 Semester — Classroom Performance Report

Prepared by: Prof. Marcus Lindqvist, Department Chair
Date: May 22, 2026

1. Enrollment Summary

The Department of Information Systems & Data Science enrolled 412 students across 10 sections in the Spring 2026 semester. The overall pass rate was 86.7%. Several students from the Computer Science department cross-enrolled in our elective offerings. The table below details enrollment and outcomes.

Course	Title	Instructor	Enrolled	Pass Rate (%)
IS 110	Digital Literacy	Prof. Tanya Bowen	78	94.9
IS 205	Business Analytics	Dr. Farid Mansouri	65	88.5
DS 201	Intro to Data Science	Prof. Clara Stenmark	62	85.5
DS 220	Statistical Methods	Dr. Kenji Takahashi	55	81.8
IS 310	Information Security	Prof. Nadia Petrova	42	83.3
DS 305	Data Visualization	Prof. Marcus Lindqvist	38	92.1
DS 320	Deep Learning	Dr. Amara Osei	30	86.7
IS 340	Cloud Computing	Prof. Derek Callahan	22	90.9
DS 410	NLP & Text Mining	Dr. Yuki Tanabe	12	91.7
IS 450	Capstone: IS Strategy	Prof. Tanya Bowen	8	100.0

2. DS 201 — Intro to Data Science: Student Grades

Below is the complete grade roster for DS 201, Section A, taught by Prof. Clara Stenmark. Grades reflect labs (35%), midterm (30%), and final project (35%).

Student ID	Name	Labs (%)	Midterm (%)	Project (%)	Overall (%)	Grade
WU20217530	Alonso, Rafael	88.5	60.0	93.0	81.5	B
WU20215765	Anderson, Emma	76.2	64.0	65.5	68.8	D
WU20214703	Blake, Nora	82.7	64.2	94.0	81.1	B
WU20218792	Carter, Sophia	69.9	89.2	68.5	75.2	C
WU20211203	Evans, Olivia	75.3	85.8	80.6	80.3	B
WU20219754	Foster, Dylan	54.0	75.0	61.5	62.9	D
WU20213480	Gomez, Ava	97.5	77.0	75.7	83.7	B
WU20218580	Grant, Hailey	98.8	66.6	62.4	76.4	C

3. Summary and Recommendations

Spring 2026 saw healthy cross-department enrollment, with 10 Computer Science students taking DS 201 as an elective. DS 305 (Data Visualization) achieved a 92.1% pass rate, validating the new project-based assessment model introduced by Prof. Lindqvist. DS 220 (Statistical Methods) remains the most challenging course at 81.8%; additional recitation sessions are recommended.

- Offer a summer bridge workshop for students entering DS 220 with limited statistics background.
- Expand DS 320 (Deep Learning) to two sections given waitlist demand of 15 students.
- Formalize the CS-to-IS elective pathway with an advising guide.
- Introduce mid-semester progress reports for all 200-level courses.
